

BSSPD Annual Conference 2023

With the ghost of the pandemic past us and in-person meetings the norm, I am organizing our annual conference in the heart of Birmingham on Friday 24th to Saturday 25th March 2023. The theme of my conference is "One World, One Prosthodontics". I have had the privilege of working in India, the middle east, UK and now in Canada. I have experienced first-hand the differences but also the similarities in prosthodontics across the world. With that in mind, I have in store for you, a fantastic line up of international speakers with topics covering fixed, removable, implants and maxillofacial prosthodontics. And for the first time in BSSPD history, we will be conducting a preconference workshop on Leadership – it is called "Future Leaders in Prosthodontics" on March 22nd and 23rd 2023. We are all asked to lead every day in one fashion or another! This workshop is catering to "leadership" concept that is relevant to each and every one of you and especially for the Prosthodontists of tomorrow!

I am bringing in my cultural background and putting a new twist to the conference dinner. Delegates will be welcomed by a Bhangra dance performance (Bhangra is a Punjabi folk dance with a rhythmic drum beat and lively dance). The cuisine will be Indian, and this will be followed by a Bollywood dance performance.

I know that within the restorative field there are numerous conferences that one can attend and numerous calls on your purse. However, for 2023, if there is one conference you want to go, to get the best of scientific knowledge, from the best in the world, and to have a fabulous social evening, come to the BSSPD conference 2023 –24th and 25th of March at the Millennium Point in Birmingham. I look forward to welcoming you all there.

Dr Suresh Nayar, President of BSSPD 2022-2023
